Who, after having deposited their full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed to the following provisions:

SECTION I.

APPOINTMENTS AND FUNCTIONS.

Article 1.

States may appoint in the territory of others, with the express or tacit consent of the latter, consuls who shall there represent and defend their commercial and industrial interests and render to their nationals such assistance and protection as they may need.

Article 2.

The form and requirements for appointment, the classes and the rank of the consuls, shall be regulated by the domestic laws of the respective State.

Article 3.

Unless consented to by the State where he is to serve, one of its nationals may not act as consul. The granting of an exequatur implies such consent.

Article 4.

The consul having been appointed, the State shall forward through diplomatic channels to the other State the respective commission, which shall contain the name, category and authority of the appointee.

As to a vice-consul or commercial agent appointed by the respective consul, where there is authorization by law, the commission shall be issued and communicated to the latter.

Article 5.

States may refuse to accept consuls appointed in their territory or subject the exercise of consular functions to certain special obligations.

Article 6.

The consul can be recognized as such only after having presented his commission and obtained the exequatur of the State in whose territory he is to serve. Provisional recognition can be granted upon the request of the legation of the consul pending the delivery in due form of the exequatur.

Officials appointed under the terms of Article 4 are likewise subject to this formality and in such case it rests with the respective consul to request the exequatur.
Article 7.

The exequatur having been obtained, it shall be presented to the authorities of the consular district, who shall protect the consul in the exercise of his functions and guarantee to him the immunities to which he is entitled.

Article 8.

The territorial Government may at any time withdraw the consul’s exequatur, but, except in urgent cases, it shall not have recourse to this measure without previously attempting to obtain from the consul’s Government his recall.

Article 9.

In case of the death, disability or absence of consular agents, any of the assistant employees whose official position has been previously made known to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs or the Department of State may temporarily assume the consular functions; while thus engaged he shall enjoy all the rights and prerogatives corresponding to the permanent official.

Article 10.

Consuls shall exercise the functions that the law of their State confers upon them, without prejudice to the legislation of the country where they are serving.

Article 11.

In the exercise of their functions, consuls shall deal directly with the authorities of their district. Should their representations not be heeded, they may then pursue them before the Government of the State through the intermediary of their diplomatic representative, but should not communicate directly with the Government except in the absence or non-existence of a diplomatic representative.

Article 12.

In case of the absence of a diplomatic representative of the consul’s State, the consul may undertake such diplomatic actions as the Government of the State in which he functions may permit in such cases.

Article 13.

A person duly accredited for the purpose may combine diplomatic representation and the consular function, provided the State before which he is accredited consents to it.
SECTION II.

PREROGATIVES OF CONSULS.

Article 14.

In the absence of a special agreement between two nations, the consular agents who are nationals of the State appointing them shall neither be arrested nor prosecuted except in the cases when they are accused of committing an act classed as a crime by local legislation.

Article 15.

In criminal cases, the prosecution or the defense may request attendance of consular agents at the trial as witnesses. This request must be made with all possible consideration to consular dignity and to the duties of the consular office and shall be complied with by the consular official.

Consular agents shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the courts in civil cases, although with the limitation that when the consul is a national of his State and is not engaged in any private business with purposes of gain, his testimony shall be taken either verbally or in writing, at his residence or office, with all the consideration to which he is entitled.

The consul may, nevertheless, of his own free will appear as a witness when such appearance does not seriously hinder the discharge of his official duties.

Article 16.

Consuls are not subject to local jurisdiction for acts done in their official character and within the scope of their authority. In case a private individual deems himself injured by the consul’s action, he must submit his complaint to the Government, which, if it considers the claim to be relevant, shall make it valid through diplomatic channels.

Article 17.

In respect to unofficial acts, consuls are subject, in civil as well as in criminal matters, to the jurisdiction of the State where they exercise their functions.

Article 18.

The official residence of the consuls and places used for the consulate’s offices and archives are inviolable and in no case may the local authorities enter them without the permission of the consular agents; neither shall they examine nor seize, under any pretext whatsoever, documents or other objects found in a consular office. No consular officer shall be required to present his official files before the courts or to make declaration with respect to their contents.

When consular agents are engaged in business within the territory of the State where they are exercising their duties, the files and documents of the consulate shall be kept in a place entirely separate from the one where private or business papers are kept.

Article 19.

Consuls are obliged to deliver, upon the simple request of the local authorities, persons accused or condemned for crimes who may have sought refuge in the consulate.
Article 20.

Consular agents, as well as the employees of the consulate who are nationals of the State appointing them, not engaged in business with purposes of gain, in the State where they perform their functions, shall be exempt from all national, State, provincial or municipal taxes levied upon their person or property, except such taxes as may apply to the possession or ownership of real estate located in the State where discharging their duties or to the proceeds of the same. Consular agents and employees who are nationals of the State they represent are exempt from taxes on the salaries, honorariums or wages which they receive in return for their consular services.

Article 21.

The employee who substitutes for the consular agent in his absence, or for another cause, shall enjoy during his temporary term of office the same immunities and prerogatives as the latter.

Article 22.

Consuls engaged in business or exercising other functions apart from those pertaining to the consular duties are subject to local jurisdiction in all their activities not pertaining to the consular service.

SECTION III.
Suspension and Termination of Consular Functions.

Article 23.

Consular agents suspend their functions because of illness or leave of absence, and terminate their office:

(a) By death;
(b) By retirement, resignation or dismissal; and
(c) By the cancellation of the exequatur.

Article 24.

The present Convention does not affect obligations previously undertaken by the Contracting Parties through international agreements.

Article 25.

After being signed, the present Convention shall be submitted to the ratification of the signatory States. The Government of Cuba is charged with transmitting authentic certified copies to the Governments for the aforementioned purpose of ratification. The instrument of ratification shall be deposited in the archives of the Pan-American Union in Washington, the Union to notify the signatory Governments of said deposit. Such notification shall be considered as an exchange of ratifications. This Convention shall remain open to the adherence of non-signatory States.
En se de lo cual los plenipotenciarios expresados firman la presente Convención en español, inglés, francés y portugués, en la ciudad de la Habana, el día 20 de febrero de 1928.
