

General Assembly

Distr.: General
15 January 2009

Sixty-third session
Agenda item 79

Resolution adopted by the General Assembly

[on the report of the Sixth Committee (A/63/443)]

63/128. The rule of law at the national and international levels

The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolution 62/70 of 6 December 2007,

Reaffirming its commitment to the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations and international law, which are indispensable foundations of a more peaceful, prosperous and just world, and reiterating its determination to foster strict respect for them and to establish a just and lasting peace all over the world,

Reaffirming also that human rights, the rule of law and democracy are interlinked and mutually reinforcing and that they belong to the universal and indivisible core values and principles of the United Nations,

Reaffirming further the need for universal adherence to and implementation of the rule of law at both the national and international levels and its solemn commitment to an international order based on the rule of law and international law, which, together with the principles of justice, is essential for peaceful coexistence and cooperation among States,

Convinced that the advancement of the rule of law at the national and international levels is essential for the realization of sustained economic growth, sustainable development, the eradication of poverty and hunger and the protection of all human rights and fundamental freedoms, and acknowledging that collective security depends on effective cooperation, in accordance with the Charter and international law, against transnational threats,

Reaffirming the duty of all States to refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force in any manner inconsistent with the purposes and principles of the United Nations and to settle their international disputes by peaceful means in such a manner that international peace and security, and justice, are not endangered, in accordance with Chapter VI of the Charter, and calling upon States that have not yet done so to consider accepting the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice in accordance with its Statute,

Convinced that the promotion of and respect for the rule of law at the national and international levels, as well as justice and good governance, should guide the activities of the United Nations and of its Member States,

Recalling paragraph 134 (e) of the 2005 World Summit Outcome,¹

1. Notes with appreciation the inventory of current rule of law activities of the United Nations submitted by the Secretary-General² and the report of the Secretary-General on strengthening and coordinating United Nations rule of law activities;³

2. Reaffirms the role of the General Assembly in encouraging the progressive development of international law and its codification, and reaffirms further that States shall abide by all their obligations under international law;

3. Stresses the importance of adherence to the rule of law at the national level, and the need to strengthen support to Member States, upon their request, in the domestic implementation of their respective international obligations through enhanced technical assistance and capacity-building, based on greater coordination and coherence within the United Nations system and among donors, and calls for greater evaluation of the effectiveness of such activities;

4. Calls upon the United Nations system to systematically address, as appropriate, aspects of the rule of law in relevant activities, recognizing the importance of the rule of law to virtually all areas of United Nations engagement;

5. Expresses full support for the overall coordination and coherence role of the Rule of Law Coordination and Resource Group within the United Nations system within existing mandates, supported by the Rule of Law Unit in the Executive Office of the Secretary-General, under the leadership of the Deputy Secretary-General, and requests the Secretary-General to submit an annual report on United Nations rule of law activities, in particular the work of the Group and the Unit, with special regard to the improvement of the coordination, coherence and effectiveness of rule of law activities, taking note of the elements set out in paragraphs 77 and 78 of the report of the Secretary-General;³

6. Encourages the Secretary-General and the United Nations system to accord high priority to rule of law activities;

7. Invites the International Court of Justice, the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law and the International Law Commission to continue to comment, in their respective reports to the General Assembly, on their current roles in promoting the rule of law;

8. Invites the Rule of Law Coordination and Resource Group and the Rule of Law Unit to interact with Member States, in particular in informal briefings;

9. Stresses the need to consider without delay the report of the Secretary-General on the resource requirements of the Unit,⁴ and urges the Secretary-General and Member States to continue to support the functioning of the Unit during the interim phase;

10. Decides to include in the provisional agenda of its sixty-fourth session the item entitled “The rule of law at the national and international levels”, and invites Member States to focus their comments in future Sixth Committee debates on the sub-topics “Promoting the rule of law at the international level” (sixty-fourth session), “Laws and practices of Member States in implementing international law”

¹ See resolution 60/1.

² See A/63/64.

³ A/63/226.

⁴ See A/63/154.

(sixty-fifth session), and “Rule of law and transitional justice in conflict and post-conflict situations” (sixty-sixth session),⁵ without prejudice to the consideration of the item as a whole.

*67th plenary meeting
11 December 2008*

⁵ For further explanations on the sub-topics see A/C.6/63/L.23.