ITALIAN EMBASSY

London, 11th June, 1957

Sir,

I have the honour to refer to the recent discussions between representatives of the Government of the Italian Republic and Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland concerning the practice of the medical profession by Italian and British doctors in the United Kingdom and Italy respectively. As the result of these discussions I now have the honour to propose, upon instructions from my Government, an arrangement in the following terms :

(a) A citizen of the Republic of Italy who has taken a degree in Medicine at a university in the United Kingdom may (subject to compliance with the procedure, and production of the documents, required under the regulations in force in the United Kingdom) be inscribed in the register of medical practitioners and may consequently practise the medical profession in the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man or in any Colony (other than Southern Rhodesia) for whose international relations Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom are responsible, under the same conditions as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies so qualified.

(b) A citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies who has taken a degree in Medicine at an Italian university and who has passed the prescribed State examination may (subject to compliance with the procedure, and production of the documents, required under the regulations in force in Italy) practise the medical profession in Italy under the same conditions as a citizen of the Republic of Italy so qualified.

(c) The right of an individual to practise as aforesaid shall, however, be subject in every case to the prior agreement of the Authorities responsible for the control of foreign nationals in the territory in which the right is to be exercised.

If this proposal is acceptable to Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, I have the honour to suggest that the present Note and your reply to that effect shall be regarded as constituting an agreement between the two Governments which shall enter into force immediately and shall remain in force indefinitely or until six months from the date upon which either Government shall have given written notice to the other of its termination.

Please accept, &c.
