AGREEMENT¹ ON CO-OPERATION IN THE DOMAIN OF ROADS BETWEEN THE MINISTRY OF URBAN DEVELOPMENT, HOUSING AND TRANSPORT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC AND THE MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATIONS OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA

PREAMBLE

The Ministry of Urban Development, Housing and Transport of the French Republic and the Ministry of Communications of the People's Republic of China (hereinafter referred to as "the parties"),

Referring to the intergovernmental Agreement relating to science and technology, signed at Beijing on 21 January 1978,² and the intergovernmental Long-term Agreement on the development of economic relations and co-operation, signed at Beijing on 16 April 1985,³

Wishing to promote friendly relations of co-operation between them and to develop scientific and technical exchanges and industrial co-operation in the domain of roads between the authorities and enterprises of the two countries,

Have agreed as follows:

Article 1. The parties undertake to co-operate in the domains of road construction and operation on the basis of equality, reciprocity and mutual advantage.

Article 2. This bilateral co-operation shall cover the following domains:

1. Feasibility studies on planned roads and motorways, their design, construction methods and site supervision, and the maintenance of roadbed and structures;
2. The installation and start-up of a computer centre for designing roads, monitoring road safety and processing data;
3. Toll motorway construction and operation;
4. Traffic technology and road safety surveillance;
5. Road-building materials;
6. How to cope with and ameliorate unstable ground conditions;
7. Road bridge and tunnel surveying, design and construction.

Article 3. Bilateral co-operation may, within the budgetary capacity of each party, take the following forms:

1. Exchanges of available technical and scientific information, reviews and documentation of interest to the two parties, in the original language, in the domains of road and motorway construction, operation and maintenance;

¹ Came into force on 1 August 1985, the date on which the Parties informed each other of the completion of the required internal procedures, in accordance with article 5.

² United Nations, Treaty Series, vol. 1147, p. 217.

³ See p. 143 of this volume.

2. The reciprocal dispatch of groups of road engineers, technicians and administrative personnel and any experts who may be of help in accomplishing the objectives of the agreement, by means of studies, visits, refresher courses and consultations.
3. Joint studies and research on projects of interest to both parties and the reciprocal exchange of the results of research, studies and experiments.
4. Joint consideration of other forms and other projects approved by both parties.

Article 4. According to need and opportunity, delegated representatives of the two parties shall meet by agreement every two years, alternately in France and the People's Republic of China, to consider the status of co-operation projects in progress and the details of future co-operation projects.

Personnel assisting in the implementation of these programmes shall have their costs met under a reciprocal system: international travel shall be payable by the sending party, and all food, lodging and transport costs, and, where necessary, reimbursement of medical expenses, shall be payable by the receiving party in its home country.

Article 5. This Agreement shall enter into force for a period of five years from the date when both parties, having completed the procedures required under their domestic legislation, so notify each other, and may be amended or renewed by common accord.

Non-renewal shall not affect the validity or duration of any co-operative activities in progress which are covered by this Agreement.

DONE at Beijing on 4 May 1985.

This Agreement has been established in duplicate, each copy in the French and Chinese languages, both texts being equally authentic.
